SOCIOLOGY 503

Second Year QP Seminar

Thursdays* 1:00-3:40pm (*every 2 weeks)

Canvas and Zoom

Professor Norah MacKendrick

E-mail: norah.mackendrick@rutgers.edu

Office Hours: By appointment Mobile phone: Will provide in class

Course Description, Goals, and Outcomes:

This course prepares second year sociology graduate students to plan for and actualize a complete draft of their first qualifying paper (QP). The course is held every second week for a full academic year. It is one-part social research methods seminar and one-part writing seminar. By the end of the course, students should have a solid draft of a QP that is ready for comments from their QP committee members.

Preparation for the course begins the summer preceding the start of the seminar. Students should aim to have data collected by the early fall, meaning the summer is a time to find a QP chair, prepare IRB proposals (if necessary) and/or collect data or clean/arrange access to necessary datasets. Sign-on for the QP should happen by late fall, and an early first draft of the QP should be ready by late January of the spring semester. Students will work together in writing groups and pairs, with regular consultation with their QP chair.

Learning Goals:

This course contributes to the learning goal of "Conduct original, theoretically engaged research grounded in highly skilled methodological techniques." The course works toward these following more specific goals:

- Plan a QP research project specifying topic, research question and methodology
- Collect / locate and analyze data
- Develop an original argument
- Prepare a defensible QP that can be circulated to the student's committee for feedback.

Diversity statement

The Rutgers Sociology Department strives to create an environment that supports and affirms diversity in all manifestations, including race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, religion, age, social class, disability status, region/country of origin, and political orientation. We also celebrate diversity of theoretical and methodological perspectives among our faculty and students and seek to create an atmosphere of respect and mutual dialogue. We have zero tolerance for violations of these principles and have clear and respectful procedures for responding to such grievances.

Keeping up with class material

Active participation and attendance, as well as 'showing up' for other classmates (through thoughtful feedback and engagement with their work) is vital to everyone's success in this course.

Discussions and respect

Graduate classes involve critique and discussion. We will likely encounter disrespectful or harmful comments, assumptions and ideas in the material we're reading or in our class discussions or in conversations we have with one another. These situations shouldn't be dismissed or ignored, and likewise, fear of offending our colleagues should not silence us. Therefore we will develop a community agreement where we outline a process for handling such moments so we can all feel welcome in class, participate openly and respectfully, and learn from one another's histories, perspectives and backgrounds.

Books

Required:

- Luker, K. Salsa Dancing into the Social Sciences.
- Booth, Wayne, Gregory G. Colomb, and Joseph M. Williams. 2003. The Craft of Research. University of Chicago press. [Any year is fine]

Highly recommended:

- Miller, Jane E. 2005. Writing About Multivariate Analysis. Chicago, IL: University of Chicago Press. [Any version fine]
- Charmaz, Kathy. 2006. Constructing Grounded Theory: A Practical Guide through Qualitative Research. London: Sage Publications, LTD.

Definitely worth your time:

- Zerubavel, E. (1999). The clockwork muse: a practical guide to writing theses, dissertations, and books. Harvard University Press.
- White, L. (2005). Writes of passage: Writing an empirical journal article. Journal of Marriage and Family, 67(4), 791-798.
- Silvia, P. J. (2007). How to write a lot: A practical guide to productive academic writing. American Psychological Association.
- Belcher, Wendy Laura. 2019. Writing Your Journal Article in Twelve Weeks: A Guide to Academic Publishing Success. Second edition. Chicago: University of Chicago Press.
- Hayot, E. (2014). The elements of academic style: Writing for the humanities. Columbia University Press.
- Thomas, F. N., & Turner, M. (2011). Clear and simple as the truth: Writing classic prose. Princeton University Press.
- Becker, Howard, Writing for Social Scientists or Tricks of the Trade
- Abbott, Andrew. 2004. Methods of Discovery: Heuristics for the Social Sciences. New York: W.W. Norton & Company. (Highly recommend that you read/skim entire book)

Helpful Blogs:

Thesociologyphdandme.wordpress.com

Getalife.blogspot.com

Technology

We're going to use Canvas for this class. It's better than Sakai, especially for using tools like Zoom.

Grading Policy

This class is designed to help you move through the program on time. It's a chance to write your first QP for credit with the support and direction of your classmates and an instructor.

For this class to work for us all, there has to be consistent attendance and active participation from everyone. With that in mind, to receive an A, you need to attend and participate in every class, complete the writing / workshop assignments on time, provide constructive and timely feedback to your peers, and complete revisions to your QP draft as required. If you don't do the exercises, login late, miss more than one class, and/or put minimal effort into peer review you can expect to get a B or a C. I understand that this academic year is highly unusual, so I will make accommodations for health issues, caring responsibilities, technological glitches, etc.

Workload from other courses is not a valid excuse for late assignments or poor attendance.

*This class is designed to support your progress in the program. Please come talk to me if you feel like the course content or structure isn't helpful.

BEFORE classes start:

- By the beginning of August, send the instructor a one-page memo outlining the project, including data collection plans, QP advisor name, status of IRB proposal or any necessary permissions to access datasets or archives. [Fall 2020 students: you have already done this.]
- No later than mid-August submit any IRB proposals using the e-IRB portal hosted by the Office of Research & Regulatory Affairs (https://orra.rutgers.edu/eirb)
- Coordinate with your QP advisor for regular consultations over the academic year.
   Please share the syllabus with them. Let the instructor know if you are having trouble finding an advisor.
- Re-read Salsa Dancing up to & including chapter 3.

COURSE SCHEDULE

*All class meetings are held on Zoom through the course Canvas page*

Thurs, 3-Sep: Getting Started

- (1) Introductions
- (2) Drafting a community agreement
- (3) Going over the syllabus
- (4) What is a QP anyway?

Before Next Class:

- Read: Craft of Research: Section 1.0 up to and including 4.4.; Salsa Dancing: Chapter 4
- Complete a Google doc called "Research Overview." State your interest, topic, research question and research problem.
- Share Research Overview with me & your advisor by September 13th. Share with the class by September 15th at 8pm.
- > Before class: read your classmates' Research Overviews

Thurs, 17-Sep: Refining the Research Question and Research Problem

- (1) Review community agreement and sign
- (2) Workshop and troubleshoot our research questions and problems
- (3) Data collection & analysis check in

Before Next Class:

- Read: Salsa Dancing, Chapters 6 & 7
- ➤ Complete, in a Google doc, a "Methods Overview." Provide a general overview of the methodology or methodologies you're using for your QP. Think about Luker's points about operationalization and sampling. Add a section called 'Roadblocks and Questions' where you outline any problems and questions you have about your research design, data collection, and/or analysis.
- Share Methodology Overviews with me & your advisor by September 27th. Share with the class by September 29th at 8pm.
- > Before class: Read your classmates' Methodology Overviews

Thursday, 1-Oct: Methodology/Data

- (1) Video check in to go over plan for the class
- (2) Work in pairs to review methodology roadblocks
- (3) Regroup and discuss common problems and solutions

Before Next Class:

- > Read Craft of Research, Sections 7-10.
- Come up with a system for organizing your literature. Considering using a reference management program. Organize readings in a way that makes sense to you. Begin outlining the literature review if that's helpful.
- > Start a google doc called "Key claims and Arguments." This will be preliminary and likely will involve some guesswork. But it's good practice even at this stage.

- Next revise each part of your Research Overview document. Observe how it has changed (or not).
- Share with me by October 12th, a google doc with i) your question and problem & ii) up to 3 claims and 3 arguments. Share with the class by October 13th at 8pm.
- Read over your classmates claims and arguments

Thursday, 15-Oct: Preliminary claims and arguments

- (1) Video check in to go over plan for the class
- (2) Work in rotating "rapid response" pairs to workshop claims and arguments
- (3) Re-group to discuss common problems, patterns and solutions
- (4) Data analysis check-in: Hear from classmates on where projects are, hiccups, delays, and achievements.

Before Next Class:

- Read Craft of Research sections 5 & 6; Salsa Dancing Chapter 5
- > Start a google doc called: Literature review outline. Use headings. Add a key point you want to make what articles/books you'll cite in that section.
- Find two literature reviews that you like or admire. Do a side-by-side comparison. How are they similar? How are they different? Share the articles with the class. Prepare to talk about them in class.

Thursday, 29-Oct Literature Reviews

- (1) Present two different literature reviews: what did you learn from the comparison?
- (2) What makes a good literature review? What are some common problems?
- (3) QP progress check-in: how is data collection going? Have you been in touch with your advisor? What things are holding back? What progress have you made?

Before Next Class:

- Continue working on your literature reviews
- Revisit your claims & arguments. Have they changed?
- Connect each claim to a paper/theorist/group of papers.

Thursday, 12-Nov: Claims & Arguments (Again)

- (1) Video check in to go over plan for the class
- (2) Work in pairs to workshop claims
- (3) Regroup and discuss common problems and solutions

Next Class:

- Continue with data collection/analysis
- Continue working on your literature review
- Begin outlining your QP
- Submit an outline to me and your advisor by November 30th. Ask for quick feedback from advisor by December 8th.

Thursday, 26-Nov No class. Happy Thanksgiving!

Thursday, 10-Dec: Going over our drafts

- (1) Discuss feedback from advisors
- (2) Outline next steps for winter break
- (3) Discuss goals for spring semester
- (4) Submit QP drafts to me by December 14th

Over the holiday break:

- Work on data collection and analysis
- Work on literature review
- > Consider submitting to ASA or SSSP 2021
- Read Craft of Research: All of section IV.

SPRING SEMESTER

[More details TBA. A lot will depend on how our fall semester goes...]

January 21st: Writing the Methods section

February 4th: Revisiting research questions, claims and arguments

February 18th: Writing the findings section & presenting the data

March 4th: Writing the literature review & putting it all together

March 18th: No class. Exchange drafts with peers

April 1: Peer Review

April 15th Peer Review

April 29th: Peer Review/Next steps